

GERMAN MANAGED CARE ASSOCIATION

Who is the German Managed Care Association?

Health insurance funds, hospitals, research institutes, physician networks, pharmaceutical and med-tech companies - the German Managed Care Association (BMC) represents the entire spectrum of players in healthcare. As a pluralistic association, we are committed to the future development of the healthcare system.

Our aim is to develop sustainable, quality-assured and patient-oriented care. The BMC is the innovation forum at the interface between politics, science and health economy. With events, publications and a network of stakeholders, we actively contribute to the health policy discourse.

Our members bring in their interdisciplinary expertise through working groups and develop solutions for topics such as innovative forms of care, digital health, pharmaceutical care, etc. With around 600 participants, the annual BMC Congress in January is one of the most important health policy events. In addition, the BMC provides impulses in specialist conferences, discussion forums and background discussions to solve existing deficits in the health care system.

BMC Congress The BMC Congress is the platform for decision makers of the health care system. The two-day conference takes place in January and attracts 150 international and national speakers as well as 600 health care experts. With a large plenary session on the first day, the second day is filled with diverse parallel panels.

Symposiums In order to present innovative health care solutions and debate on health system design, we organise small in depth discussion rounds up to large symposiums.

Working Groups Our working groups engage in various health care fields and continuously work on a specific topic, including digital health, projects under the Innovation Fund, benefit assessment and market access, patient-oriented care etc. Meeting two to three times a year, our members creatively set their own targets, inviting experts, developing new care projects and writing policy papers.

BMC Brown Bag The BMC brown bag initiative brings together the future leaders of the health care system for networking and debates. Besides periodic informal meetings, the future leaders can participate in site visits of health institutions, interactive workshops as well as in international study trips.

Capital Talks The most exclusive of our formats is an intimate dinner at the Private Members Capital Club. We invite a high level speaker for a keynote and then discuss the topic with around 15 participants under Chatham House Rule.

BMC study trips With the aim to gain insight and get inspired by international best practices, we organise study trips to other health systems. The diverse C-level participants from Germany and Switzerland promise in depth debates and excellent networking opportunities.
